

Cookie Policy

What are Cookies?

Cookies are small amounts of information which some websites store on your computer, tablet or phone to make it easier for you to log on to and use them during future visits. In reality, a cookie is a small text file which is stored by the user's browser and contains data, not code, so it can't contain a virus or spyware. This doesn't mean that all cookies are harmless in intent, but they can only ever store information.

If you wish to find out more about cookies visit www.allaboutcookies.org

Acceptance of our use of Cookies

By continuing to use our website, you agree to our use of cookies as set out in below.

The Cookies we use

Mullis & Peake LLP uses 'analytical' cookies on this site to allow us to monitor website traffic and analyse how visitors use it via Google Analytics. This service tracks information about how visitors interact with the site, including the number of visitors to our website, where visitors have come to the website from and the pages they visit. We use this information to help us improve our website.

Mullis & Peake uses Remarketing with Google Analytics on a set number of pages on the website to advertise online and make our adverts more relevant. Remarketing uses remarketing cookies that will be used by third parties (including Google) to show our adverts on websites other than our own website.

If you wish to find out more about remarketing visit
<https://support.google.com/adwords?hl/answer/2453998=en>

You can opt out of Google's use of cookies by visiting Google's Ads Settings
<https://support.google.com/ads/answer/2662922?hl=en-GB>

You can opt out of third-party use of cookies by visiting the Network Advertising Initiative opt-out page www.networkadvertising.org/choices

How we use your information

Any information collected through our use of cookies will not identify you personally it is statistical data about our visitors and their use of our website. This statistical data is completely anonymous and does not identify any personal details whatsoever.

Declining Cookies

All computers have the ability to decline and delete cookies. You can configure your web browser to refuse cookies or to be informed if a cookie is set. You can find out how to do this or to delete cookies by clicking "help" on your browser menu.

Queries

If you have any questions or comments regarding this Cookies policy, please email danielleward@mplaw.co.uk or send a letter to Danielle Ward at 8-10 Eastern Road, Romford, Essex, RM1 3PJ